One phone... true unified communications

SimplyMobile turns your cell phone into the only communications device you need. With a dual-mode cell phone you can switch off the cellular network and access the Wi-Fi network from any hotspot. This enables your cell phone to replace the phone at your office, your home phone, and any other phone without using cell minutes. Discover the simplicity of having all your business and personal communications managed by one number, one phone and one voicemail box. Having many devices is a time waster and leads to missed messages, phone tag and getting back to callers late. You have your cell with you all the time, Stop Juggling!
